ORAL ORDER
(Passed on 5th April, 2006)

The crux of the allegation in this writ petition is that the liberty of the first respondent who is the daughter of the petitioner, has been curtailed by the second respondent who is the husband of the first respondent. If that is the case, the appropriate process to be initiated is to move an application for writ of habeas corpus. This writ petition is misconceived. It is accordingly dismissed, however, reserving liberty to the petitioner to move an application for writ of habeas corpus, if he is so advised.
